

3. Creating Your Catalogue

3.1 Categories/ Products

It is without a doubt, a beneficial factor in providing an eCommerce store that is user friendly and straight forward to consumers. A good navigation is essential, therefore the less clicks the better. Therefore it's best to have your catalogue organized into different categories.

Categories define how all the products on your site are organized. You should choose a hierarchical structure for your store that will make sense to your customers therefore making it easy to locate your items.

- To create a category, simply click on “new category”.
- Fill in the required information and click “save”.

- Within categories, you can create subcategories, simply double click on the category and click on new category.

Manufacturers

- Before creating product profiles, if you would like to indicate the manufacturers of your products, you must create manufacturer names. To do so, click under Manufacturers.

3.2 Product Attributes

If you are selling a product that comes in different sizes, colours, or versions, etc. you could indicate it under Product Attributes.

For example, you own an online store that sells electronic devices such as CD players. You are selling the newest model of a Sony Discman that comes in silver, metallic blue, and black. Creating a product attribute allows your customers (when buying the Sony Discman) to choose from a pull-down box the colour of Discman they wish to buy before adding it to their shopping cart.

If a certain colour, size, version, etc. costs different (more/less) than the original value, you could indicate it here as well.

Creating Product Attributes

Product Options

- Under product options is where you input the name of the product that comes in different varieties (in this case, style type), click insert.

Product Options Option ID

1 |

ID	Option Name	Action
1	waist size	<input type="button" value="edit"/>	<input type="button" value="delete"/>
2	length	<input type="button" value="edit"/>	<input type="button" value="delete"/>
3	colour	<input type="button" value="edit"/>	<input type="button" value="delete"/>
4	en: <input type="text" value="style type"/>	<input type="button" value="insert"/>

Option Values

- This is where you indicate the different versions, colours, size, etc.
- In the pull down box, find your product option name. (In our case, colour)
- In the second box, type in the description (in our case, yellow)
- Finally click insert.
- Continue to do the above steps until you're done indicating the different versions.

Option Values

ID	Option Name	Option Value	Action
1	length	32	<input type="button" value="edit"/>	<input type="button" value="delete"/>
2	length	33	<input type="button" value="edit"/>	<input type="button" value="delete"/>
3	length	34	<input type="button" value="edit"/>	<input type="button" value="delete"/>

Product Attributes

- If you are selling the different versions at different prices, this is where you indicate it.
- Let's say the Long Cotton Pants is $50, but you want to sell the "blue" version $5 more, then in the value price field, type in 5.00 and click insert. If however the "blue" version is 5.00 cheaper, under prefix, type (-) instead.
- If the remaining versions are sold at $50, then in the "value price" field, type in 0.000.
